

Kharkovina Vicky International Economic Relationships, 102
Language advisor: T. S. Skyrda

PROSPECTS OF STUDYING ABROAD

In the 21st century, students enter higher education in other countries. Especially among young people it is highly appreciated and popularized to study in the United States. The USA is the leader in the world educational ratings, both general and specialized. Students have the opportunity to have two diplomas. They choose two specialties: basic and additional. These privileges help students to find better work in the future. In this country, when entering the university there is the function of choosing community colleges as an introductory stage. Two years of study gives at once the opportunity to move to the third year of university where one can get higher education by specialty in this college. Lately about with the most popular ones are specific training for modern youth-study for receiving grants. The most intelligent and the most creative students have the possibility to image a promising large corporations that are ready to pay for their training with perspective of further employment.

A modern system of international relations in the country with other countries gives some realistic opportunities to the youth as seen in the statistics of immigration abroad for study today, really covers more borders [1]. Some world famous universities of London or universities of Cambridge with joy waiting for young people and are ready to open their door absolutely free for students. Also, young and educated dream about daily enrichment of information, gives us an opportunity to communicate with popular foreign speakers, participating webinars and all kinds of lectures. Aspect of education in this matter is highlighted best, because sometimes a two-hour webinar with foreign expert provides more saturated information than two lectures in Ukrainian university. It helps audience know about country and get new knowledge and acquaintance with different aspects. Provided project “Youth without borders”. This project introduces active students to the concepts of social inclusion and also improves knowledge about the provision of human rights. With the help of interactive exercises, teamwork, innovative methods informal education, communication with young people built the foundation for solving the problems in the future and create big opportunities for development. This project helps participants find out more about the culture of countries allowing them to adjust productive dialogue and create the foundation for future partnership.

Studying abroad will require an incredible amount of planning and you must be willing to do much of the legwork yourself [2].

As mentioned above, in my opinion studying abroad is the basic for further changes in life. They are huge prospects for those who want to achieve heights and be creative in society.

REFERENCES:

1. <http://www.sii.org.ua/uk/portfolio/ywb/>
2. <https://www.prospects.ac.uk>